FAIR WINDS & FOLLOWING SEAS

A commission between Freedom Festival, Hull Maritime, Arts Council England and In Situ; 'Fair Winds & Following Seas' was an exciting and innovative exploration into spatial audio, GPS technology, musical soundscapes, rich history and the vivid tapestry that is our imagination.

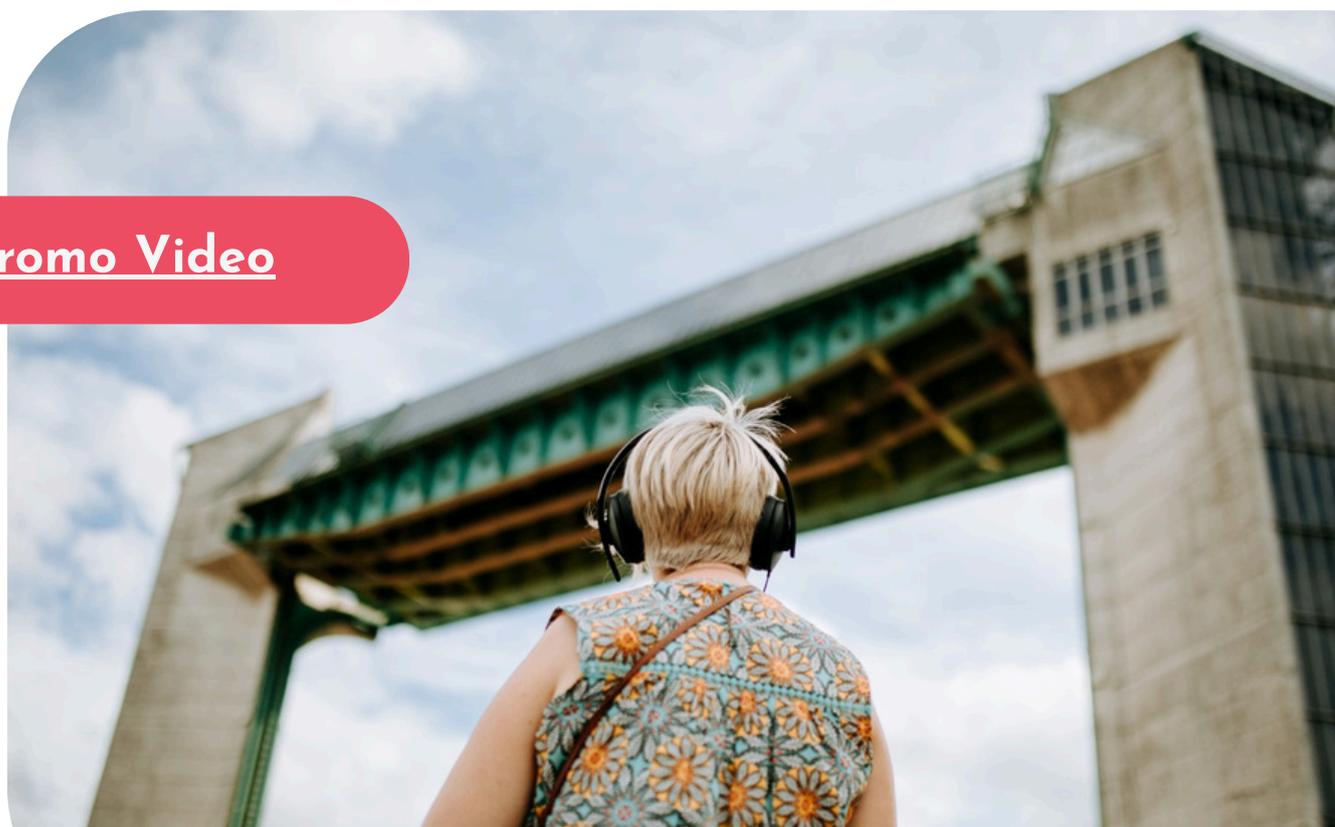

Inspired by Hull's visible and hidden layers of history and its unique landscape, this immersive spatial audio headphone experience was designed to take you on a thought provoking, meaningful and introspective outdoor journey. Downloaded to a smart device of your choosing, you could explore your deep rooted connection with the path you walked as we brought the natural surroundings to life.

Blurring the lines of reality, your imagination was at the centre of this experience, inspiring you as you explore and connect with the seemingly normal space around you.

With original music scored by The Broken Orchestra and spoken word by Imison award winner Vicky Foster, 'Fair Winds & Following Seas' illuminates the everyday surroundings with the use of sound, elevating the atmosphere of everyday public spaces. Set against the backdrop of Hull's maritime past, you will be captivated by immersive music, eclectic soundscapes, innovative sound FX, expressive spoken word and powerful poetry, transforming the visual landscapes into an all-round sensory experience.

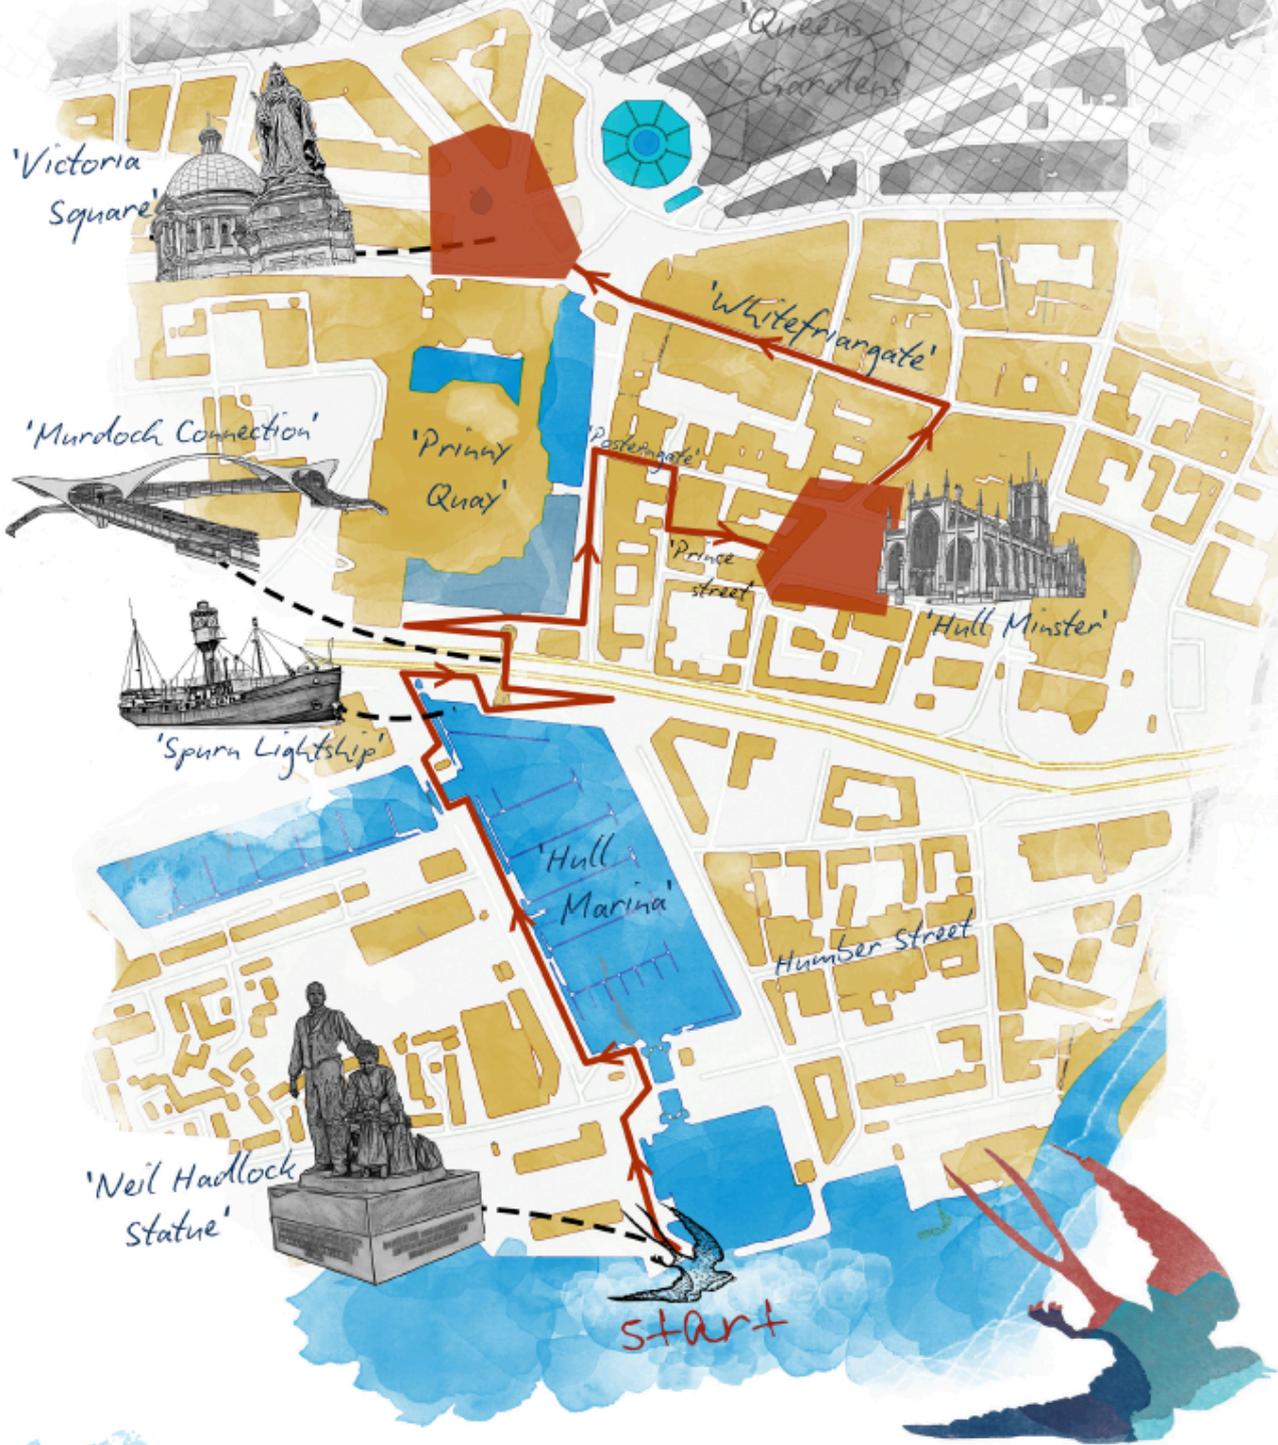

Ideally, we recommend you find the time to go for a walk, as we inspire and connect you to a city built on deep cultural roots, traditional resilient identity, influential trade and a proud working class ethos. But if you can't access the route, sit back and enjoy music from The Broken Orchestra with the poetry and words of Vicky Foster.
